SHIFTING SANDS

A portion of the beach was already cordoned off Wednesday and warning signs in place after an incident Tuesday in which a 10-year-old sank up to his chest in an area where contractors are replenishing the sand. The beach renourishment project hit yet another snag earlier this week when a passing boater cracked the pipeline which is being used to pump in the sand.

St. Stephen's Church in DeLisle hosts a St. Joseph's Altar.

St. Joseph Altar at St. Stephen's Church

An Altar featuring breads, pastas, fruits, vegetables, cookies, cakes, cannoli, meatless casseroles, several large red fish, a bleeding heart cake, a lamb shaped cake, and much more added to the beautifully decorated Altar covered with lilies, roses, splendid stained glass art, miniature St. Joseph workshop, symbolic breads of grapes and wheat, Jesus' slippers, crown, cross, staff, Eucharist, standing and flowing Guardian Angel fountain, sparkling cyber angels, pictures and personal mementos of cherished memories.

Father John Ford, S.T., Pastor of St. Stephen's Church in DeLisle blessed the Altar and all present before a festive dinner was served. The Altar was the work of Josie Thomas, her sister, Ginger Emfinger, Beverly Holetz, Dot Smith, Cathy Thorn, Jane Geauthreaux, Lorraine Cuevas Georgia Hundl, and many others.

John Peranich caught and supplied 50 pounds of filet speckled trout and a number of red fish. Many generous parishioners brought delicious meatless casseroles. Mary Ellen Landau steered the baking of hundreds of cookies. While Lucien Jolly with his crew, Charles Cangelosi, Glen Chauffe, Dick Brown, Gene Cooper and E. Dedeaux, handled the kitchen, JoAnn Vaz embellished the tables with fresh homegrown flowers.

Traditionally, in Sicily during the Middle Ages a long drought and famine initiated public prayers to St. Joseph whose intercession relieved the country. Altars of plenty for rich and poor were built in Thanksgiving and in petition for the healing of the sick and suffering.

Possession of precursors, shoplifting send two to jail

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Publisher Emeritus

A report of two suspects shoplifting on March 16, led to the arrest of a Poplarville and Lumberton residents, for shoplifting and possession of precursors, according to Waveland Police Chief Jimmy Varnell and Bay Chief Frank McNeil.

The police chiefs said, "Larry Thomas Davis, 49, of Lumberton, and Dennis Dean Henley, 23, of Poplarville, were caught shoplifting by Wal-Mart Loss Prevention Officers."

The suspects were seen taking a large amount of pseudoephedrine (cold tablets) out of the store without paying for the merchan-

"Officer Matt Sekinger of Waveland responded to the scene and observed the suspects attempting to leave the parking lot. Officer Sekinger initiated a traffic stop with the suspect vehicle and observed a large amount of precursor material in plain view. He found 332 dosage units of pseudoephedrine (cold tablets), lithium batteries, coffee filters, and several bags of dry ice, all of which are the key ingredients in the manufacture of crystal methamphetamine," the chiefs said.

Both suspects were taken to the Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility.

Davis was on probation though the Mississippi Department of Corrections for a previous conviction of possession of crystal meth. A $20,700 bond was placed on him, but he is being held without bond due to the probation violation, the reports said.

Henley was also placed on a $20,700 bond and both are scheduled for an April 14 appearance in Waveland Municipal Court.

Detective Brent Anderson is handling the investigation, Varnell and McNeil reported.

Domestic disturbance leads to drug arrest

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Publisher Emeritus

A second call to a family disturbance last week ended up with a woman being arrested and charged with possession of a controlled substance in addition to three charges, Sheriff Steve Garber said.

Narcotics Division Director Major Matt Karl reported, "Tammy Gambell, 42, was arrested and charged with possession of a controlled substance, driving on a suspended driver's license, no insurance, and disturbance of a family. His bond was set at $7,500 at the Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility."

"Deputy Brandon Hendry responded to the first call of a disturbance of a family and Gambell was told to stay away from the location. The sheriff's office was called again and Gambell had returned and was arrested for disturbance of the family, suspended driver's license and no vehicular insurance," Karl who is handling the narcotic's violation reported.

"As a normal procedure, before a suspect is transported to jail, the patrol vehicle was checked for foreign objects and none were found," Karl added.

Karl continued, "Upon arrival at the jail, when Gambell exited the vehicle, deputies found a small package of white powder on the seat where she was seated. Further checking found that Harrison County had three warrants for her and she is being held for that county too."

Karl said the small amount white powder tested positive for powdered cocaine and Deputy Mary Coster assisted Hendry in making the arrest.

Danger!

Beach renourishment area needs to settle before use

The beach renourishment project which has started in Bay St. Louis between the Highway bridge and Ulman Avenue, needs to be completed and settled before use, according to Hancock County Board of Supervisor Lisa Cowan.

Cowan called Wednesday morning to report a youngster had to be pulled out of the loose sand on Tuesday.

Cowan said Bay police are going to do more patrolling and danger signs have been ordered and will be placed along the job site within a few days.

Cowan said one of the board's concerns is because of the warmer weather, in addition to school breaks, there may be others who try to use the refurbished beach before the contractor finishes his job.

Once the project is completed, the sand which is now discolored in the areas being pumped in, will bleach out to white.

There are many areas of the sand beach which is still available for use.

Easter week is one of the most solemn weeks of the year for Christians across the world.

There are many special church services this week to celebrate the death and resurrection of Jesus.

On Sunday there will be Sunrise Services and other special services too on Holy Thursday and Good Friday.

Easter Sunday, like Christmas means there will be many worshipers in their respective churches.

It is hope that each and everyone will have a safe and Happy Easter.

This weekend too, many of our residents will be traveling out of town to visit relatives and friends.

The numbers of folks traveling on holidays continues to increase each year, as we have a 'changing' population.

I can remember those days when very few folks left from here for the holidays, because the majority of their family members lived in the area, but, like so many things, times have changed.

Our highways and roadways should be heavy with traffic over the Easter weekend too.

If you plan on traveling out of town, you may want to give yourself a little extra time to because of the increase in traffic.

And please remember, please do not drink and drive.

QUOTES-PAGE 5A

The flow & Ebbers of MS politics

Wonder why jail-bound Bernie Ebbers has drawn nothing but silence from Mississippi politicians who were chief beneficiaries of Ebbers' largess in his heyday as a telecom tycoon?

Noticeably quiet since Ebbers' conviction for orchestrating the $11 billion WorldCom fraud has been Republican U.S. Rep. Chip Pickering of the 3rd District.

Pickering became Ebbers' golden boy after helping to shape the 1996 Telecommunications Deregulatory Act that opened the door to the cowboy-capitalist's meteoric rise in the long-distance telephone boom of the 90s. Nor has any word been heard from Sen. Trent Lott, another key figure in the 1996 telecom law, upon whom a grateful Ebbers heaped big gifts, including $1 million to stage a Washington gala in 1998 to raise money for the Lott Leadership Institute at Ole Miss.

Pickering and Lott were back-slapping pals of 'good ole Bernie' back then, seated in the front row whenever Ebbers announced another WorldCom long distance coup.

In 2002 just two months before WorldCom's book-cooking first became known, Bernie was in the front row at a $1,000 per head campaign fund-raiser breakfast for Chip, at which VP Dick Chaney was the draw.

The sudden meltdown three years ago of WorldCom, the Clinton-based telecom giant, and now the conviction of its rags-to-riches founder, 63-year-old Ebbers, for presiding over a record accounting fraud, is bound to be a lethal blow to Mississippians' aspirations to become a major player on the nation's business front.

Here was the state's first and only homegrown Fortune 500 company and, in the rough-hewn Ebbers, the state's first member of the elite club of the nation's billionaires.

The compelling story that he first sketched out his idea for building a long-distance empire on the back of a paper napkin while having coffee at his favorite cafe in Brookhaven burnished his image as a Magnolia State version of John D. Rockefeller.

An ex-Canadian, Ebbers came down to the state initially to play college basketball, dropped out, and became a high school coach, later motel owner. The bearded, swashbuckling Ebbers mesmerized thousands of Mississippians into investing their savings and retirement funds into WorldCom stock as it rose at a dizzying pace while he scooped up dozens of telephone companies, among them long-distance biggie MCI.

Of course, not only did Mississippians jump on the WorldCom bandwagon. Hundreds of pension funds and big investors around the country were tipped off by Wall Street brokerage houses to 'get aboard the

Gas Prices Have Become Ridiculous

Over $2.50 a gallon at the gas pump looms in the near future. The media again will explain rising costs per barrel, a cold winter, rising demands for gasoline, maybe a refinery or pipeline fire or quote a politician saying there needs to be exploration in Alaska for more oil.

What the media doesn't report is the ever rising profits being made by oil companies and investors.

The February 1 issue of USA Today has been one of the few news stories telling the historic records of the major oil companies, partly credited to a near monopoly that crushes competition. Most gas prices can jump several cents over night and everywhere.

Here is what USA today reported February 1: ExxonMobil earned a record $8.4 billion in the fourth quarter and a record $25.3 billion for 2004, the company announced. It earned $1.30 per share for the quarter vs. $1.01 a year earlier.

Also reported 'It's the best year and the best quarter ever," said Neil McMahon, an analyst with Bernstein & Co.

Other company reports included: ChevronTexaco - fourth-quarter profit nearly doubled to $3.4 billion. Profit for the year rose 85% to $13.3 billion. ConocoPhillips said that its fourth quarter profit more than doubled to $2.4 billion. Profit for the year rose 72% to $8.1 billion.

Major retailers selling gasoline have prices high enough so discounts for gas can now be offered if you buy their items up to 10-cent off the price of gas, $.03 off if consumers use their discount cards.

It's an outrage. It's manipulation. It's a scam. Inflation follows for every product it costs to transport. Readers would cancel their newspaper if prices changed per issue like the cost of gas.

Price hikes have long been orchestrated and climb more and more each spring, part of the monopoly.

Two factors could lower prices. All print media everyday can place in the corner of their front page name plate the daily profits of the top three oil companies and every broadcaster can end their nightly news with the same gas profit reports. Shame the oil stockholders. List the profits daily and by what percentage of increase. If we can put rovers on Mars, we can monitor the daily profits of the oil industry. Now that will be news.

The alternative if the companies don't lower prices is for the government to intervene, stop the monopoly and regulate the industry. Consumers need relief. Income isn't going up for consumers pocketbooks as fast as the gas prices. It's profiteering. We pump our own gas. We wipe our own windshield and provide our own smile.

Protecting USA gas reserves is one thing against our adversaries, but after 1,500 American soldiers have died in Iraq, security is one thing, outright historic profits for oil companies is are something else.

Mississippi Legislative Report: Week 11

Late afternoon on March 11, the Senate learned that the Governor intended to call a special session. As you know, the Office of Medicaid had reported that they were projected to run out of money, which would have forced a halt of operations. The Senate, prior to this date, had passed two bills related to Medicaid funding. One bill would have transferred money from the Tobacco Trust Fund into the Health Care Expendable Fund. The other bill then would have appropriated that money to the Division of Medicaid. Unable to reach an agreement with the House on these bills, the matter had still not been resolved, leaving Medicaid in a state of crisis.

The Governor's action allowed the Senate and the House to focus solely on the issue of Medicaid over the weekend. After hours of

by Sen. Scottie Cuevas

work, late Sunday night the Senate unanimously passed HB 4. This bill authorizes $240 million to be borrowed from the Tobacco Trust Fund to be repaid from the Rainy Day Fund over a period of seven years. The bill was very similar to the Senate version passed weeks ago in the regular session. Also passed was SB 2001, which appropriates the $240 million from the Health Care Expendable Fund to defray the expenses of the Division of Medicaid for the remainder of this fiscal year. The Governor has approved both bills. The Senate is pleased that a resolution was finally reached, and that the 780,000 Mississippians on Medicaid can once again trust in the assurance that their medical coverage is intact.

Work continued this week in conference on HB 1104, the Medicaid technical amendments bill that modifies eligibility, services and facility assessments. While the work done over the weekend is considered a "quick fix" to the immediate problems facing Medicaid, this bill is considered the "long term fix," so we are not faced with a similar crisis in the future. This bill will bring Medicaid services in line with what our State can afford, while still providing health care coverage to our State's most poor and needy individuals. The conferees from both chambers agreed on a conference report. The Senate passed the report with only 6 dissenting votes. However, the House voted to send the bill back to conference. Our conferees will continue to work on this important piece of legislation.

One final note, we welcomed former members of the Senate on Thursday for the biennial reunion. It was good to have them here in the chamber and to hear some share their stories with us. At the end of that day, we decided to adjourn until Monday. By not convening on Friday, we saved the taxpayers thousands of dollars. We felt this was a way to compensate for the expense of the Special Session, without jeopardizing any bills to deadlines. We will continue to work the concurrence/nonconcurrence calendar as we anticipate the Sine Die date of April 3.

I am honored to serve as your Senator. Please, let me know what you think about these or any other matters of interest to you. You may call me at (601) 359-3221.

WorldCom gravy train. Even the enormous California state pension fund put some $30 million in the Mississippi-based long distance company.

(Now, according to the New York Times, some Wall Street analysts and brokerage houses that hyped WorldCom stock based only on information from the company are themselves subjects of a securities investigation.)

Pickering, as a Senate committee staffer for Lott in the mid-1990s was assigned by Lott to help craft a telecommunications deregulation act pushed by Ebbers to require the regional Bell companies to open their network of installations to competitors such as the tiny long-distance reseller Ebbers then owned.

The deregulation bill failed in 1995, but the following year, with Lott (then Senate Majority leader) holding Republicans in line, the bill passed and was signed into law by President Clinton. Later, Clinton said it was one of the biggest mistakes of his presidency.

Pickering was elected to the U.S. House in 1996, and became the leader of what was called the House "wireless caucus."

Significantly, he also became the top recipient of political money from WorldCom's political action committees.

According to figures reported in 2002 by the non-profit Center for Responsive Politics, since he first ran for Congress in 1996, Pickering had received $83,750 in campaign contributions from Ebbers or his company PACs, more than anyone in Congress.

Ebbers' conviction in a New York federal court on nine counts growing out of the WorldCom collapse marked the first time his noted attorney, Reid Weingarten, had lost a case involving a high-profile Mississippi. In the late 1980s as a Justice Department prosecutor, he convicted U.S. District Judge Walter Nixon of Biloxi of lying to a grand jury, and in 1998 he won an acquittal of former Secretary of Agriculture Mike Espy on charges of accepting gifts from Tyson Foods.

In its extensive coverage of the Ebbers case, the New York Times concluded that the former WorldCom chief hurt himself with his evasive answers to even simple questions when he was put on the witness stand by Weingarten.

As one Brookhaven resident sadly observed after the Ebbers conviction: "WorldCom was a story of rags to riches and back to rags."

Multiply that by thousands of little Mississippians who put faith in a homeboy corporate genius, then lost their retirement nest-egg in the fall of his phantom telecom empire.

Taylor announces 24th annual Congressional Art Contest

U.S. Rep. Gene Taylor has announced that the 2005 Fourth Congressional District Art Competition will take place on Friday, April 29 from 4 to 5:30 p.m. at the Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College Jackson County Campus in Gautier. This competition is part of the 24th Annual Congressional Art Competition. The winner from each U.S. Congressional District will have their work displayed for a year in the Cannon Tunnel, a heavily used corridor of the U.S. Capitol.

Taylor stated, "The art competition allows for a high school student's work to compete against work from their peers across South Mississippi. This is one of the few national art contests exclusively for the high school level. Each year the contest gets bigger and bigger. There are many talented, hard working students in the Fourth District and I am always glad to see the quality of work they produce each year."

Participants in the contest must be high school students in the Fourth Congressional District in grades nine through twelve. The rules of the competition allow for only one entry per student. Each entry must be accompanied by a Student Information/Student Release Form attached to the back of the work. These forms can be obtained from a student's art teacher or by contacting one of Congressman Taylor's offices. Those wishing to participate must have their artwork at one of Congressman Taylor's District offices by 5:00 p.m. on Thursday, April 21.

Those offices are located at:

Any questions or requests for further information can be directed to Mrs. Jerry Martin of Congressman Taylor's Hattiesburg Office.

$2,700,000.00 CLOTHING WAREHOUSE Liquidation

We get great merchandise in the oddest of ways.

You probably heard about a plane going off the end of a runway and crashing into a clothing warehouse in New Jersey last month. It was on all the TV news and in all the newspapers. Thankfully no one was seriously injured but the plane left a big hole in the distribution center belonging to a clothing store chain that has 165 stores in the northeast. The company's insurance company paid the claim and we bought all the clothing out of the warehouse from the insurance company. This is absolutely beautiful, current spring and summer merchandise in near perfect condition and the prices are great. This company bought current merchandise in mostly national brands and discounted the merchandise half of the manufacturers suggested retail price in their stores. The merchandise was ready to go to their stores and has their stores price tags on the merchandise. You'll see what low prices they have but at Hudson's Treasure Hunt you can take an additional 40% off their already discounted price!

DON'T MISS THIS SALE IN ALL TREASURE HUNT LOCATIONS.

St. Rock Celebrates Women's Day

St. Rock U.M.C., Waveland, and Rev. Elijah Mitchell, pastor, recently celebrated "Women of Strength." Dr. Barbara Coatney, a member of St. Mark A.M.E. Zion in Raleigh-Durham, NC, was the guest speaker. She is the former Federal Program Director of the Hancock County School District, Kiln, and member of Little Providence Baptist Church, Catahoula.

Excitement builds for 'Mudbug Challenge'

THE SEA COAST ECHO Mudbugs and music make a great combination for a fun weekend. Add a silent auction, a fishing tournament and the excitement of barrel racing and bull riding to the mix and it makes for a darned near perfect weekend.

Attendees at the fundraiser Favre's on the Bayou is sponsoring on April 1 and 2 at the Hancock County Equine Center will not only go home sated with crawfish and entertainment, but they'll also know that the money they've spent will go to a very worthy cause -- the Hancock County Boys & Girls Club.

The festival begins at 6 p.m. April 1 and includes a $2,500 draw down, with a silent auction from 7 to midnight and entertainment by the Keith Hoda band from 8 to midnight. People who want to participate in the April 2 bass tournament may register from 7 to 8 p.m.

Cost for the Friday event is $25, which will admit two people and include a steak dinner for two.

The gates open on Saturday at 10 a.m. and close at midnight, with a silent auction from 10 to 5:30 p.m., the Mudbug Challenge (a crawfish cook off) from noon to 6 p.m. and live entertainment by two Coast favorites -- the Keith Hoda Band and the Crossfire Band -- plus the Damon Troy Band and the Hunter Hayes Band, both from Louisiana.

Hunter Hayes is the 12-year-old from Beaux Bridge who's become famous as an accordion player and singer of Cajun French songs. He was singing with a local band at age two and a half. He has appeared with Jo-El Sonnier, released his own recording at age four, appeared in the movie "The Apostle" with Robert Duvall, performed at the Texas Motor Speedway with Hank Williams, Jr. He's been on the Rosie O'Donnell Show, been featured in People Magazine, guested on "Live with Regis and Kathy Lee," performed at the White House for a Congressional Picnic and headlined his own show in Branson, MO, among other things. Jeff Favre of Favre's on the Bayou is very proud of have nabbed him for the Hancock County event.

There will be a barrel racing competition from noon to 6 p.m., a "cow drop" from 3 to 4 p.m. and bull riding from 7 to 9 p.m.

Both the barrel racing and bull riding competitions are Mid-South Pro Tour events. The weigh-in and awards for the bass tournament will take place at 6:30 p.m. and awards for the bull riding and barrel competition will be at 9 p.m.

Ticket prices for Saturday: $25 for all events, including all the crawfish you can eat, $20 for all-you-can eat crawfish plus the live entertainment and $14 if you just want to watch the barrel racing and bull riding.

If you want to enter the fishing tournament, call Boys & Girls Club Director Richie Santiago at 463-9662. The entry fee is $50 per boat. To enter the crawfish cook off ($150 per team) call Bobby Doyle at 363-1887. To enter the bull riding or barrel racing contests, call Mike Kirkland at (601) 795-2254 or (601) 795-4835 evenings. Entrants must sign up by March 28.

Favre hopes to make this festival an annual fundraiser for the Hancock County Boys & Girls Club, now in its second year.

THE SEA COAST ECHO Mary Anderson of Waveland impressed the judges with her photos and was awarded a certificate of outstanding achievement in this state wide contest. She has also secured a place as a featured artist in the new Mississippi on-line eCards site.

John McDonald of Picayune, took first place with his photograph "Bayou Moods: Peace and Tumult." The winning entry shows Wolf River in Harrison County where the peaceful images on a tidal pond's surface belies a growing early morning thunderstorm. McDonald, who has his own on-line picture gallery website to showcase his work, had his first experience with a camera using a tiny 35mm Kodak Retinette in the 1960's. He said: "My favorite subjects are wildflowers, wildlife, and natural scenes of south Mississippi."

"There is a very restful and satisfying quality in this natural beauty that I find irresistible."

During the competition held this year, the overwhelming quality of the entries received presented the judges with a wide choice of pictures of Mississippi and made selecting the winner quite difficult.

The competition was organized by Wolf Valley, LLP of Ridgeland and launched in November 2004. The competition was open to all Mississippi residents. Participants were invited to submit entries of Mississippi's people, places or things. All entries were required to be photographed by Mississippi residents and taken in the state of Mississippi.

This competition is intended to encourage local people and visitors, of all ages, to be more aware of what Mississippi has to offer. "Our aim in holding this competition was to develop and raise the visibility of photographic and creative talent in the state of Mississippi," explains Rob Bounds, Co-Owner of Wolf Valley, LLP. "We were pleasantly surprised by the variety of entries, revealing different aspects of life in Mississippi." Miranda Jordan, key organizer for the event said: "It is our hope that focusing on the talents of local photographers and sharing what they see through their camera lenses will be an inspiration to others. Sometimes people can become dispassionate about the place they live; we wanted to remind Mississippians what is essentially in our own back yards."

The judging for the photo competition was conducted on March 11, 2005, by a panel of 12 judges. One overall winner was selected. Outstanding Achievement Awards were also presented to Becky Glover of Meridian, Carson Hughes of Jackson, Conrad Johnson of Long Beach, Mike Higginbotham of Hattiesburg, Mikel Morris of Poplarville, Charlie Harrison of Lauderdale, Teresa Morris of Drury, Luther Smith of Meridian, John Rhodes of Biloxi, Benjamin Marble of Gulfport, James Pankey of Gulfport, and Robert Mitchell of Biloxi.

Casino -- Silver Slipper

Wednesday that plans have changed. The "Northern Belle" will be replaced by a casino barge now docked at the President Casino in Biloxi if plans are approved by permitting agencies. The barge is about twice the size of the "Northern Belle."

"We're excited to get busy with a larger facility," McCarlie said.

For now, Silver Slipper investors will operate the casino facility at its present location, when permits are approved by the Mississippi Gaming Commission, McCarlie said, and move the facility to the Bayou Caddy location in late fall. The facility offers twice the size for about three quarters of the price, he said. The large er facility will have room for entertainment venues and offer more to the public, McCarlie said. A parking garage has also been added to facility plans.

In October, county planning and zoning commissioners approved site plans for a 43,000 sq. foot dockside building which will house facilities for entertainment venues, restaurants and shops. Plans for this facility have not changed, McCarlie said. Pilings should be in next week and construction should get underway right after that, he said. Plans to add a hotel to the 37 acre site at a later date are still in the works.

The casino boat was to feature four levels totaling 24,000 sq. feet gaming space. The first level will feature 300 slot machines and be a non-smoking area. Deck two was slated to be at ground level and the main entry from the dockside building featuring 200 slot machines and 19 game tables. Level 3 was slated to feature 250 slot machines and Level 4 was to hold a nine table Poker Room with 20 slot machines.

Five hundred new machines are still proposed to be state of the art incorporating coinless, ticket-in, ticket-out technology. The President facility already holds 1,000 machines. There was to be a bar on every level with wide screen televisions and video poker machines. The new facility will offer similar facilities, just more of them, including a 300-seat show room, Macarlie said.

Local developers Cliff and Gene McCarlie joined with Paul R. Alanis and other investors to make the project a reality. Alanis is the CEO of Silver Slipper Gaming, the former president of Horseshoe Gaming and the former CEO of Pinnacle Entertainment. Boggs Contracting Group will serve as general contractor for the project. The official groundbreaking for the Silver Slipper Gaming Hall and Saloon casino complex was held in January.

Sand -- beach problems

Hopefully the signs will prevent anyone else from suffering the same fate as a ten-year-old Bay St. Louis boy Tuesday afternoon.

The boy was playing in the construction area, said Bay Fire Chief Bobby Gavagnie, and started to sink in the newly-pumped sand. He was up to his chest by the time a jogger spotted him, said Gavagnie. Police officers Patricia Dinardo and Eddie Bessey got to the scene first but were unable to pull him out.

They called the fire department, Gavagnie said, and held the boy up by his shoulders until more help arrived. Captain Monti Strong and Fireman Matt Whitman dug by hand to release the boy from the suction of the sand and pulled him out, said Gavagnie.

The child walked up to the street under his own power, said Gavagnie, and the police officers gave him a ride home. The boy didn't require any medical attention, Gavagnie said.

The incident followed another setback for the project. A boat ran into the dredging pipeline Tuesday, cracking it. Repairs on the pipe, are supposed to be completed today, said county engineer Geoffrey Clemens.

Wednesday, Clemens is overseeing the project. Contractors had just overcome a problem with dredging holes. The first one they used ran out of sand, holding up the project for more than a week.

As to the safety of the construction area, Clemens said, it is a good idea not to enter the area at all. Sand in the area is unsettled and people should stay away from an area where large machinery is operating, said Clemens. And until the sand settles, there is always a danger of sinking.

According to Assistant District Attorney Chris Schmidt, Courtney had been driving northbound on 2nd Street and attempted to cross Highway 90 when the accident occurred.

"(Courtney) ran a stop sign...and hit a carload full of kids," Schmidt said.

Tiwanna McDaniels, Ashlee Giardino and Troy Robinson were all injured in the wreck. A blood test determined that Courtney had a BAC of .17, almost a full 10 points over the legal limit of .08.

Although only three individuals were injured, six charges -- two for each victim -- were filed against Courtney. In the event that blood tests are deemed inadmissible, Courtney can still be tried for common-law DUI.

Arrest made in Hancock car theft

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

Publisher Emeritus

A Hancock County man was arrested Monday in connection with the theft of a pickup, which was reported stolen on Katie Drive in early February, Sheriff Steve Garber said.

Criminal Investigator Tom Roan reported, "Gerald Watkins, 43, of Hancock County was reported in the Katie Drive area and arrested by deputies and charged with felony motor vehicle taking."

The sheriff's office received a call from the owner of a pickup reporting the vehicle stolen on Feb. 5 on Katie Drive near Pearl River County.

"The same night the vehicle was reported stolen, Watkins was stopped by Pearl River authorities and charged with misdemeanor crimes in that jurisdiction. He was driving the C-10 Chevy at that time Pearl River officers did not have the information of the stolen being vehicle," Roan said.

Roan continued, "A warrant was later issued for Watkins following our investigation for the vehicle's theft and his bond was set at $5,000 at the Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility."

Occhi elected to national board

Robert J. Occhi, Coast Electric Power Association's Executive Vice President and General Manager, was recently elected to serve on the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association's (NRECA) Board of Directors.

The NRECA Board of Directors oversees the Association's activities and consists of 47 members, one from each state in which there is an electric distribution cooperative. Occhi will represent Mississippi's 683,000 members who receive their electric service from 26 electric power associations. Founded in 1942, NRECA is the national service organization dedicated to representing the national interests of cooperative electric utilities and the members they serve. NRECA's more than 900 member cooperatives serve 37 million people in 47 states. NRECA provides national leadership and member assistance through legislative representation before the U.S. Congress and the Executive Branch; representation in legal and regulatory proceedings affecting electric service and the envi-

SBA loans up sharply in state

The number of small businesses in Mississippi receiving loans backed by the U. S. Small Business Administration through February of fiscal year (FY) 2005 is up by more than 60 percent compared to the same period a year ago, with the most significant increases coming in loans to minorities, women, and veterans.

The increase shows a total of 270 loans approved through February 2005 - 263 7(a) loans and seven 504 loans - compared to 168 loans during the same period in fiscal year 2004 (162 7(a) and six 504 loans). Of that, the growth in the number of loans to African-Americans, women and veterans was prominent. Overall loans to small businesses owned by veterans increased by almost 79 percent (34 vs. 19), women by 136.5 percent (97 vs. 41) and loans to African-Americans increased by 553 percent (98 vs. 15).

"We are pleased that both our outreach and streamlining efforts have proven highly effective, as reflected in the substantial rise in assistance to African-Americans, women and veteran businesses," said Mississippi SBA District Director Janita R. Stewart. "The increase reflects the significant efforts of making loan programs such as the SBA Community Express widely available to our customers through circuit loan fairs and faith-based workshops."

The SBA Community Express loan program provides federally backed loans and lines of credit up to $250,000 for entrepreneurs, especially minority, women, and veterans, as well as rural, low-to-moderate income communities. Applicants will get a response on the loan application in 24 to 48 hours, depending on the amount of the loan.

An SBA-qualified technical assistance provider helps applicants evaluate the strengths and weaknesses of each loan application and helps them develop a plan to be successful.

"The technical assistance component of the program is another example of SBA's commitment to creating programs that better serve Mississippi small businesses and strengthen the economies of the communities we serve," said Stewart.

MDEQ license requirements to include pump installers

The Office of Land and Water Resources at the Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality (MDEQ) announced that water well contractors who install and service water well pumps must be licensed by MDEQ. All licenses expire on June 30 and must be renewed annually.

Applicants must submit a completed renewal request form along with the annual license fee of $100 to MDEQ prior to June 30.

"Ground water is an important resource in Mississippi, and is by far the most important source of drinking water for our state. We have a good working relationship with the water well contractors in the state and want to ensure they all know of the licensing requirements adopted by the Commission on Environmental Quality," said Sam Mabry, Director of the Office of Land and Water Resources.

Over 93% of the drinking water supply in Mississippi is derived from the numerous ground water aquifers available throughout the state. This supply is obtained via approximately 3,400 public water system wells as well as thousands of domestic wells.

The Office of Land and Water Resources is responsible for licensing and regulating all water well drillers and pump installers operating in the state. State law requires that all water wells drilled in Mississippi must be done by a licensed well contractor.

Licensed operators in Mississippi must meet specific requirements and demonstrate their competency in drilling and/or pump installation by passing various tests administered either by the office or by the National Groundwater Association.

A current list of licensed water well contractors, pump installers and special purpose drillers is compiled by the agency and is available to the public.

The Office of Land and Water Resources also maintains records on all drilled and plugged wells and holes in the state and enforces pertinent regulations and laws to ensure the protection of groundwater resources.

For questions on this topic, please contact Gaylan McGregor at (601) 961-5642 or you can access the MDEQ website at: www.deq.state.ms.us.

NASA engineers and officials discussed the planned launch date for the "Return to Flight" project in a media briefing on March 27. The space shuttle Discovery is scheduled to launch on May 15, marking the first American shuttle flight since the Columbia was destroyed in 2003.

Stennis assists 'Return to Flight'

BY JOHN WATERMAN
Staff Writer

After more than two years of preparation, NASA has scheduled its first shuttle launch since the Columbia was destroyed while attempting re-entry.

At a media briefing on Friday, Bill Parsons, manager of NASA's space shuttle program, said the space shuttle Discovery was scheduled to launch on or about May 15.

The shuttle will be bound for the international space station.

Despite some recent problems with the station's gyroscopes, Parsons said the shuttle should have no trouble docking with the station, and that the launch should go ahead as planned.

NASA currently has about 28 flights left as part of its obligation to the international space station.

Since the Columbia disaster, NASA engineers and technicians have taken every measure possible to ensure that "Return to Flight" would be the safest launch yet.

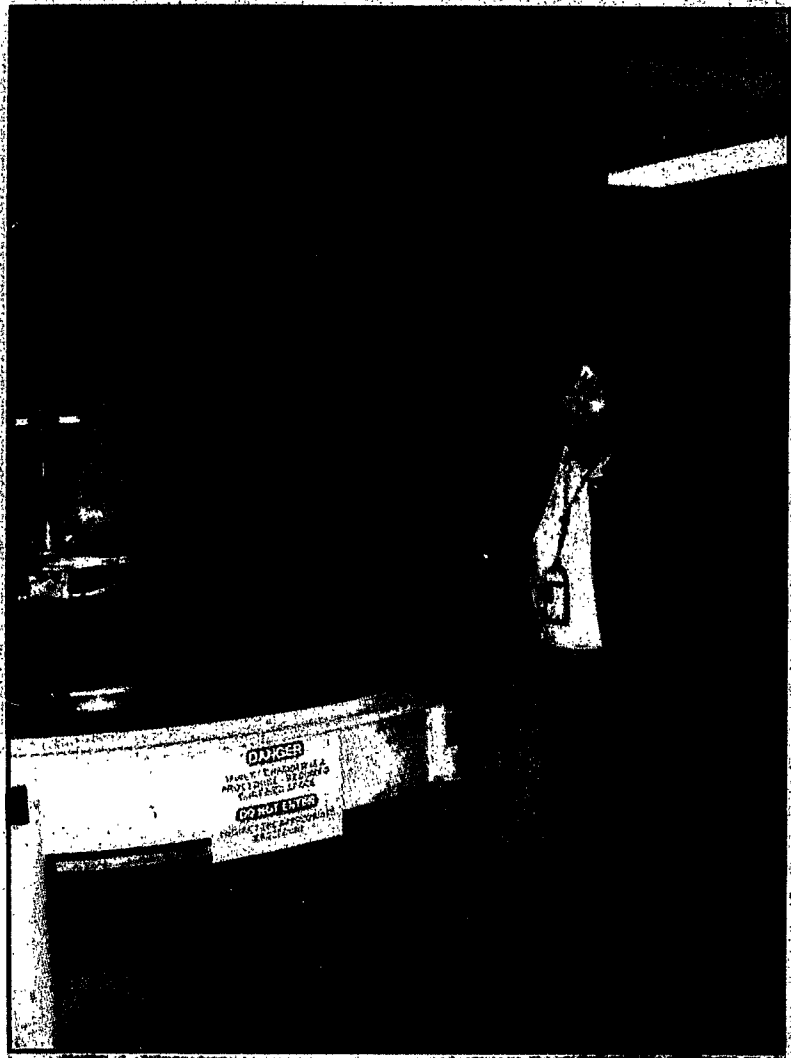

Stennis Space Center, where all of NASA's Space Shuttle Main Engines (SSME) are tested, is a huge part of that process.

SSMEs stand six feet tall, and are capable of going from zero to 36,000 RPM in one second. Each one generates 500,000 pounds of thrust, which is equivalent to 470 million horsepower.

Admiral Tom Donaldson, director of Stennis, said that these engines were only a means to an end, however.

"It's the most complex part of the shuttle, but its not the most important. That being the precious cargo that is the astronauts," he said.

Donaldson added that "Return to Flight" was a stepping stone to exploration of Mars.

Ed Anderson, quality assurance manager for Rocketdyne, the division for Boeing that designs shuttle engines, stands next to SSME-0257.

Other improvements to the shuttle included aft manifold restructuring, and a fifty-foot camera arm attached to the shuttle, which will be used to evaluate Discovery after docking with the space station.

Every NASA employee and contractor was excited that the launch date was drawing near.

Ed Anderson, quality assurance manager for Rocketdyne, a division of Boeing that designs and tests the SSMEs, said that he had worked in the space program for 25 years, ever since the first shuttle launches.

"I had chills...I had pride that I was part of something that big. (Return to Flight) will be just like that first time."

Federal judge rules foster care lawsuit covers all children in state's custody

THE SEA COAST ECHO

U.S. District Court Judge, Tom S. Lee of the Southern District of Mississippi last week ruled that a lawsuit brought on behalf of abused and neglected children in foster care should proceed as a class action.

There are approximately 3,000 foster children in Mississippi who will be covered by the lawsuit, Olivia T. vs. Barbour.

The lawsuit asserts that for more than a decade, the state has been aware of its pervasive failure to protect the children who depend on the Department of Human Services (DHS) and the Division of Family and Children's Services (DFCS) for their basic safety and most fundamental needs, and the State has failed to provide the leadership, support and resources necessary to assure their care. In responding to the State's argument that it would be difficult to order meaningful reform to a foster care system with such extensive failures as alleged, Judge Lee stated:

"In the court's opinion, however, the fact that it could prove difficult to fashion fully responsive and effective injunctive relief... is not a basis for refusing to undertake the task in the first place. That is to say, the court does not perceive this to be an impossible undertaking, and it is not one the court is unwilling to assume."

"This is a major victory for foster children in Mississippi," said Eric Thompson, lead attorney on the case for Children's Rights, the national child advocacy organization that brought the suit with co-counsel in Mississippi. "DHS has buried its head in the sand when it comes to the dangers these children face every day in state custody. The judge's ruling will force a public accounting of DHS that is long overdue."

Olivia T. vs. Barbour was filed on March 30, 2004, and on November 18, 2004, Judge Lee issued an opinion denying the State's motion to dismiss the lawsuit. Defendants in the class action suit are Governor Haley Barbour, DHS Executive Director Donald Taylor, and DFCS Director Billy Mangold.

"Today's decision means that we may now move into fact-finding to document the system's failings on behalf of all children in state custody," said Stephen Leech, a Jackson-based attorney working with Children's Rights on Olivia T.

"We are eager to move forward to vindicate the rights of all of the abused and neglected children who desperately need an improved foster care system."

The lawsuit was filed by Children's Rights, along with local co-counsel in Jackson, Mississippi, including Wayne Drinkwater and Melody McAnally of Bradley Arant Rose and White, LLP, and Stephen Leech, Esq. Also co-counsel are John Lang and Chris Carbone of Loeb and Loeb, LLP, with offices in New York and Nashville.

Are your shrubs and trees budding?

Flowering Shrubs and Trees

Azaleas, redbuds, and other second season spring bloomers are opening buds now. There may be some trees and bushes of the same species in full bloom already and others that haven't started. Your 'Pride of Mobile' azaleas may be in their pastel glory while your neighbor's hasn't yet started. Frequently this difference is due to microclimate. There is a rule of thumb in chemistry and biology that for each ten degree rise in temperature reaction rate doubles. If your azalea is in light shade against a south facing wall it will be several degrees warmer than your neighbor's bush in moderate shade against an east facing wall. Those few degrees difference may delay flowering by several days. Those few degrees may also be the difference between buds freezing to death and living to produce flowers. If your plants aren't blooming like the rest of those in the neighborhood, see if you can determine any shade or light direction differences before taking any corrective procedures. The answer may be as simple as waiting a while.

Vegetable Tips

Frost chances are gone for much of Mississippi and many of us are planting tomatoes, cucumbers, peppers and other warm season vegetables. One of the key components for successful transplanting is hardening off the plants before putting them into the ground. Buying a good quality plant with white roots and disease free leaves is the first step. Talk with the seller and see when the plants were delivered to the garden center. If they have been held outdoors a few days at the garden center, they are ready to plant. If, however, the plants have been held in a covered structure or are freshly delivered from a greenhouse, the plants are not adapted to the cold temperatures they will be experiencing. These plants should be placed in the car port or in light shade and kept well watered two or three days. Soil temperatures are still about 60 degrees F and taking a plant from a high humidity, low light, 70 degree F environment and placing it into a cold, windy,

1985: Waveland considers prison work center

TEN YEARS AGO

March 5, 1995 - The Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library will begin moving to its renovated building beginning Monday, March 13 through Monday, April 10. Grand Opening festivities are scheduled for Tuesday, April 11, at 11 a.m. according to Prima Planché, director.

A large number of children frequent the Hancock County Board of Health located in the Human Services Complex for various services. A need for a table and chairs

TWENTY YEARS AGO

March 14, 1985 - Two representatives of the State Department of Corrections addressed the Waveland Board of Aldermen Tuesday on the possibility of locating a minimum security work center near the city. Morris L. Thigpen, a correction's commissioner, and Monti Rhodes, a correction's supervisor for Harrison, Hancock and Stone Counties, appeared at the meeting at the invitation of Mayor John Longo, Jr. Thigpen said the center could be a 75-bed facility in which Waveland has expressed interest recently existing along the Coast in Gulfport and Pascagoula. If Waveland is chosen as a site, the city would have to provide a three-to-five acre site with utilities and sewage as well as garbage pickup and fire protection. The department would also pay $475,000 to $500,000 cost for construction for the facility. In exchange Waveland and possibly Bay St. Louis and Waveland would have prisoners available to them as free labor. State Senator Gene Taylor, who was unable to attend the meeting but favors locating a center in Hancock County, added that prisoners would not be sent directly from county jails to work centers. Instead they must progress in a minimum security level in the regular prison system before becoming eligible for placement in a work center. Taylor was the first to approach the city with the possibility of providing a work center site.

Sofianos casts his lot with U.S. Air Force Academy

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

Stefan Sofianos, who set several records at SSC in 2004, has committed to play football for the United States Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs. He will join teammate Lee Klein as a member of the Falcons' squad.

Sofianos was also recruited by the University of Southern Mississippi, Furman University, Ball State University, Nicholls State University, Vanderbilt University and the United States Merchant Marine Academy.

Sofianos commented, "The location of the Air Force Academy in the Rocky Mountains is absolutely breathtaking. The facilities at the school are unlike any I have ever seen. Their tradition, structure and endless opportunities will help me prepare for my next steps in life."

With Klein and Sofianos going to Air Force, it is believed to be the first time in head coach Fisher Deberry's tenure at Air Force that two players from the same school in the same year will sign with the Falcons.

When asked about playing college ball with his teammate, Sofianos stated, "I think being up there with Lee (Klein) will make it easier on both of us. We will be able to relate to each other and that will allow for a smoother transition from high school to the rigors of college."

The first thing that Sofianos recalled of playing for SSC and head coach Casey Wittmann was the pursuit of excellence.

Sofianos will face the same pursuits in Colorado Springs. He explained, "When Coach Wittmann arrived at SSC, he had one thing for us to strive for and that was excellence in all aspects of our lives. We committed ourselves to that challenge and to Coach Wittmann."

On the field in 2004, Sofianos set a single-season receiving record of 906 yards. He also set a single-game record of four touchdown receptions and holds the longest reception of 90 yards.

Sofianos has qualified academically to play as a freshman with a 3.97 GPA and a 26 on the ACT. He is projected to play wide receiver in college. Sofianos wants to eventually attend medical school following graduation.

Brutus needs a second chance

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Brutus was brought to the veterinary clinic in need of lots of help. He was painfully thin and had somehow suffered a broken leg. The owners didn't know how they could possibly afford the cost of his care, even in a payment plan. They left and said they would call back if they could find the means to pay for his medical needs. They called back and said it was not possible and agreed to give the dog up for adoption.

The owners looked as though the world had not been very kind to them. The trials in their lives were worn heavily in the lines on their young faces. They appeared to be living out of the old car that carried them and their belongings. They had never seen the promise of a bright future and Brutus was a luxury that could not afford.

Brutus is now recovering from orthopedic surgery and is well on the road to recovery. He is sweet and gentle and looks at you with soulful eyes that ask only for someone to love and care for him.

Friends of the Animal Shelter in Hancock County has paid for the surgery for Brutus and he is beginning to pick up a little weight. Now he needs a foster home for his surgical recovery. FRIENDS has been able to pay for his surgery because of the Gumbo Fund that covers medical care for animals to make them more adoptable.

If you would like to help Brutus and many other animals who need a little extra help, please call 216-PETS or send your donations to FRIENDS, P.O. Box 2274, Bay St. Louis, MS 39521.

high light environment may cause the plant to stop growing for as much as a week. Just changing the temperature a few days makes the plant better able to adapt to the high light, high water demands of the outdoors.

Cole crops may be bolting due to the roller coaster temperatures we have been experiencing. Unless you need the garden space, leave the bright yellow flowers to attract honey bees. Watching the flower stalks will give you an indication of the bee population around the garden. Several flower stalks of collard, broccoli or mustard should attract an abundance of bees. If no bees come to visit, you may need to forego planting cucurbits unless you supplement the bee population with a hive.

Wet Soils Undesirable for Planting

Soils are very wet in most of Mississippi. Planting woody ornamentals now is difficult and saturated soils make digging planting holes almost impossible. Using an auger or a shovel to create a planting hole when soils are very wet invariably leads to poor viability of the plant.

Wet soils lose their structure and the physical shearing force of the shovel blade will seal the sides of the hole by destroying the pores normally present. Roots from the plant can't grow into the soil, water can't drain, and the root system essentially is sitting in a tub of water and can't grow out of it. Wait until the soil has drained and the shovel doesn't leave the soil slick and shiny before planting.

A similar proposal made to the Hancock County Board of Supervisors for a site in the county was turned down.

FORTY YEARS AGO

March 19, 1985 - In accordance with the wishes of downtown merchants and several other civic groups who came out in their support, Bay St. Louis Commission Council decided Monday to remove all parking meters, effective April. To be supervised by a two-hour parking limit throughout the area presently covered by metered parking, the action terminates a long series of discussions merchants and the city during the last few months. One street, Federal Street, not currently metered, will probably receive 15-minute meters. This move is designed to provide post office parking for patrons. Six to eight meters are scheduled to be re-designed to operate on a 15-minute basis for one cent.

Modifications of plans for four-laning U.S. 90 between state Route 43 and the approach to the Bay St. Louis bridge was endorsed by directors of Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Monday night. The recommendations will be transmitted to John D. Smith, highway commissioner for the southern district, by Chamber President Joseph L. Marochino. Present announced plans are to construct dual lanes north and south of U.S. 90 from the bridge approach to the highway scales (in Waveland). A second phase, to be done sometime in the future, would add a north, or westbound, lane from the scales to Route 43, generally following old U.S. 90.

MS Gulf Coast Sr. Games to be held March 30-April 3

HUNDREDS of senior athletes are expected to participate in the Second Annual Mississippi Gulf Coast Senior Games, March 30 - April 3.

"The purpose of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Senior games is to promote health and physical fitness of adults 50 and older, through organized events, competition, and education," said Roger Derby, a principal organizer for this year's games.

The 2005 Gulf Coast Senior Games will be held March 30 - April 3, with golf and tennis, May 4 - 5. The entry deadline for all events except golf and tennis is March 25. Deadline for golf and tennis entries is April 25.

The Mississippi Gulf Coast, sanctioned by the Mississippi Governor's Commission on Physical Fitness and Sports, is affiliated with the Mississippi Senior Olympics, an annual event staged in the greater Jackson area.

"We will conduct 17 events, with the majority in Harrison County and additional venues in Hancock and Jackson counties," said Derby.

Two exciting social functions are scheduled during the Games. Registered athletes and guests are invited to the ballroom dancing competition at the Imperial Palace Hotel, host hotel for the Games, the evening of March 31. The competitive dancing will be alternated with open dancing for all attendees. There will also be a RedHat Luncheon on March 26 at the Imperial Palace Hotel.

The Welcome Reception will be held Friday, April 1, at the unique Treasure Bay Casino ballroom.

The Gulf Coast Senior Games were organized by experienced senior athletes, recreation professionals, the Gulf Coast Running Club, the Gulf Coast Chapter of the Mississippi Hotel & Lodging Association and Mississippi's Gulf Coast Convention & Visitors Bureau. The Mississippi Gulf Coast Retiree Partnership, six city governments, and nearly a dozen chambers of commerce and related organizations support the Games.

In addition to participation from numerous Coast athletes, organizers expect to draw competitors and guests from throughout Mississippi and the Southeast region. Economic impact to the Coast economy is estimated in excess of $350,000.

"Of course we're pleased with the revenue forecast for the Coast, but more than anything, we're thrilled with the support we have so far received from our supporting partners and community sponsors," said Derby.

For entry forms and more information, visit the Mississippi Gulf Coast Senior Games website at www.seniorgamesonthe-gulfcoast.com or contact Roger Derby at 875-9698.

NEW FOR 2005
The 2005 Gulf Coast Senior Olympics will add a new category to the competitive games this year, Golden Bay Arts.

Game organizers approached the city of Bay Saint Louis to develop an arts venue for the local Olympics. Golden Bay Arts will be the only arts venue offered in Mississippi, but seniors from throughout the country will be eligible to participate.

Local coordinator of the event is the city's director of cultural affairs, Mike Cuevas. Visual, literary, theater and musical arts will be open to competition in two age categories, 50-64 years and 65 and older with awards for 1st, 2nd and 3rd place, in each competition in each age group.

In the visual arts competitors may participate in any two of the following Categories: oil, acrylic, watercolor printmaking, photography and pottery.

BSLLT presents 'Dark Deeds'

THE SEA COAST ECHO
"Bay St. Louis Little Theatre will present 'Dark Deeds at Swan's Place or Never Trust a Tattooed Sailor,' a tongue-in-cheek melodrama, written by Tim Kelly. BSLLT dedicates these performances to the memory of actor-director Teddy Stechmann, who always wanted to present a melodrama.

Set in the Old West during the 'Gold Rush' the story is loaded with laughs and comic delight, seedy jokes and escapist entertainment. The villain and his henchwoman make a tidy profit shanghaiing young lads to ships that sail from California to the China Seas.

They operate from a disreputable tavern owned by a grizzled prospector, who dies and wills the tavern to an innocent niece, an orphan. The villain must get rid of the damsel. Enter an English sailor with a love for the theatre. He offers the niece his protection and the hilarity goes into high gear.

Soldiers, widows, society matrons, cowboys, mysterious figures, and a crusty sea captain collide to make the mirth even merrier.

Performances are on March 25, 26 at 8 p.m. at the John F. Holmes Playhouse, 301 Boardman Avenue, Bay St. Louis.

Dark Deeds is directed by Larry Clark, assistant director Roxanne McCabe, with an ensemble cast including Jack Schornick,
